

English Course List for fall semester 2021

Hallym University

Last updated: July 2021

Department		Course Name	Credit	Instructor	Language	Course Description	Full Description	Class Hours
한림대학교 HALLYM UNIVERSITY
	691005	<input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies	Korean Film and Literature	3	Canadas Ivan	English	This course, as part of the Korean Culture Studies program - 한국학전공 - is intended as an English-language introduction to an area of Korean culture, which would otherwise be difficult to access for students not fluent in Korean language. Literature and film provide considerable insight into the soul of a vibrant, modern society and its competing, evolving cultural voices. Though necessarily eclectic, the selection of material aims to answers pertinent questions troubling the modern citizen, to satisfy cultural curiosity and also to promote and inspire further study and research into a living field, essential to understanding our world, in this region and beyond. Though necessarily selective, the course material has been chosen with the aim of answering pertinent questions troubling the modern citizen, to satisfy cultural curiosity and also to promote and inspire further study and research into a living field, essential to understanding our world, in this region and beyond.	click here	TUE E THUR E
	_009072	<input type="checkbox"/> Liberal Arts College	BASIC KOREAN	3	이재선	English	This course is a basic-level Korean language course, designed for exchange students of Hallym University. Students will learn basic vocabulary and expressions, grammar, listening, speaking, reading and writing in an intergrated manner according to daily situations and functions. By the end of this course, students will be able to read and write Korean alphabet, communicate in Korean for daily life.	click here	Mon 3&4 Wed 3
	209906	<input type="checkbox"/> Media	Media Audiences and Effects (100% Online & Live)	3	PRIELER MICHAEL	English	This course introduces media effect theories, including effects of media violence, mobile communication, video games, the internet, advertising, stereotyping, and political communication. Mass media's potential to influence audience beliefs and behavior is a subject that has long fascinated scholars and the general public. The ongoing interest and concern are reflected in the common tendency to blame "the media" for many of society's problems. This course cuts through popular notions of presumed effects to provide a balanced, informed, up-to-date treatment of the media effects literature and equips students with a fundamental understanding of the history, theoretical underpinnings, and current status of media effects research knowledge that will help them navigate in a media-saturated environment.	click here	TUE B THUR B
	680075	<input type="checkbox"/> Management <input type="checkbox"/> International Business	Management of Human Resources	3	ROBINSON KEITH MICHAEL	English	Human Resource Management (HRM) is an aspect of any business, however small, in which everyone plays a part. Although many organizations have a dedicated HRM department, it is a topic that everyone should understand. Whether you are an employee or a manager, knowledge of how people can and should be treated in the workplace is fundamental to the success of both the organization and the individual. HRM covers a wide range of methods, laws, and knowledge that deal with everything from analyzing the people you wish to employ, through the recruitment and selection of them, to the ongoing development, training, motivating, and rewarding throughout their employment. In this course we will concentrate on the methods of: - developing a strategy to employ suitable personnel - Recruiting and selection - Training, developing, and assessing individuals - Compensating employees for their efforts In addition, we will consider issues regarding: - Diversity in the workplace - Ethical behavior in the workplace - The differences concerning HRM in international organizations and small entrepreneurial firms. From completing this course, you should be able to design and implement suitable methods for recruiting, developing, and maintaining people in a positive and healthy work environment.		Wed 2 Fri 1&2
	680054	<input type="checkbox"/> Management <input type="checkbox"/> International Business <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies	Financial Management I	3	조규성	English	This is an introductory course in corporate finance. This course provides students with the fundamental principles of finance and their applications. The topics include time value of money, discounted cash flow, pricing of bond and equity, and capital budgeting.	click here	Mond 7&8 Wed 7
	680060	<input type="checkbox"/> Economics <input type="checkbox"/> International Business <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies	Senior Seminar in International Trade and Business	3	신유경	English	Only suitable for third year students, or above with a business background: In this course, we will study the functioning of the international economy. Topics will include (but are not limited to) theoretical principles that govern international trade, empirical evidence of world trade patterns and policies in industrialized and developing countries, and trade deficits and surpluses.	click here	Wed 6 Fri 5&6
	680077	<input type="checkbox"/> Economics <input type="checkbox"/> International Business <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies	Intermediate Microeconomics II	3	조창익	English	This is designed as an intermediate course in Microeconomics. Knowledge of basic concepts is assumed, and new tools are developed to analyze individual decision making under constraints. We will look into consumer and firm maximization problems, and some game theory fundamentals at the end of the quarter. Most of the topics will include theoretical derivations as well as real life applications.	click here	Mon 1&2 Wed 1
	102400	<input type="checkbox"/> English	Introduction to English Composition	3	안정현	English	 (For non-native students of English) This course is intended to train students to use English for academic research and college-level writing. Grammar reviews and basic composition exercises will be included in the curriculum. Students will also practice a variety of sentence types and learn the principles of sentence construction and paragraph development. Students who successfully complete this course will be able to express their ideas more effectively and produce writing in which meaning is not obscured by grammar or usage errors in punctuation, spelling, word choice, or word order.	click here	Tue B Thur B
	680079	<input type="checkbox"/> Economics <input type="checkbox"/> International Business <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies	Intermediate Macroeconomics II	3	노석재	English	This class integrate the insights of Keynesian and classical macroeconomic theories. Evewn thoguhy Keynes's General Theory provides the foundations for the current understanding of economic fluctuations, it it important to remember that the classical economics provides the right answers to many fundamental questions. In particular, this class studys many of the ideas of Keynes and the new Keynesians necessary for understanding economic fluctuations.	click here	Tue A Thur A

한림대학교		Department	Course Name	Credit	Instructor	Language	Course Description	Full Description	Class Hours
685018	<input type="checkbox"/> Legal Informatics & Forensic Science		Network Security & Forensics	3	김혁준	English	This course is vital for any students that want to deeply understand data transmission over different types of networks, as well as how to control, collect and analyze such data. This course will introduce students to network security and network forensic investigations. Students will review networking concepts and then jump right into an advanced analysis of network traffic related artefacts. After this course, students will have both theoretical knowledge and practical skills to secure networks and investigate any incidents.	click here	Fri 1,2,3,4
680048	<input type="checkbox"/> Economics <input type="checkbox"/> International Business <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies		International Financial Markets	3	한영목	English	This class will study "International Finance" based on the aspects of Economics. Especially, in this class, more focuses will be on "foreign exchange market and foreign exchange rate". Some important subjects are; workings of the foreign exchange market, the determination of exchange rates, open economy macroeconomics, balance of payments analysis and their relationship to other financial and economic variables. The class also discusses the effects of macroeconomic policies on the exchange rate in an international context.	click here	Tue E Thur E
102352	<input type="checkbox"/> English		English-American Novel	3	CANADAS IVAN	English	Read selected English-American short stories. However, it also includes foreign short stories that greatly influenced world literature in the 20th century. This course has two goals. The first is a close reading of selected texts. It is essential for improving vocabulary, reading comprehension, and sentence usage, as well as for correct understanding and appreciation of texts, and as a basis for critical thinking. Second, a correct and rich understanding, appreciation, and evaluation of the selected works are required. Reading works from the mid-19th century to the early 20th century will be of great help in understanding the nature, direction, and problems of the society and life we live in today.	click here	Tue A Thur A
685025	<input type="checkbox"/> Legal Informatics & Forensic Science <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies		Crime & Punishment	3	박노섭	English	Criminal law is the body of law that relates to crime. It proscribes conduct perceived as threatening, harmful, or otherwise endangering to the property, health, safety, and moral welfare of people inclusive of one's self. Most criminal law is established by statute, which is to say that the laws are enacted by a legislature. This course covers selected topics in substantive criminal law: principles underlying the definition of crime such as the requirements of actus reus and mens rea and general doctrines such as ignorance of fact and ignorance of law, causation, attempt, complicity and conspiracy.	click here	TUE A THUR A
691011	<input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> Law <input type="checkbox"/> History		Korean Comparative Constitutional Law	3	FREY BRITT FRANKLIN	English	This course will examine the Korean constitution in relation to those of Japan, China, Germany, and the United States; other countries may be added to the list based on student nationalities. We will discuss significant similarities and differences, the effects of World War II on subsequent constitutions, and influences from external powers. Near the end of the course, we will look briefly at statistical analysis of documents and how it can be applied to constitutions.	Click here	Tue D Thur D
691003	<input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies		Encounters with Korea	3	RAY ALLEN BRUCE	English	Students enrolled in this course will receive a fundamental grounding in understanding and surviving in modern Korea. This functions as a broadening of their international perspective regarding how to interact within a culture that can at times be quite alien to their own. Through seven types of encounters, they can directly develop the tools for understanding and navigating through it harmoniously.	click here	WED 4 FRI 3&4
691004	<input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Business		Fundamental Issues for International Business in Korea	3	FREY BRITT FRANKLIN	English	This is a survey course that introduces various issues important to anyone wanting to study or engage in international business in Korea. Some topics included are: contracts, international business law, modern Korean corporate structures, historical and philosophical influences on modern Korean business culture, and major international corporations and their current operations in Korea.	click here	TUE B THUR B
691008	<input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Business		Korean Economy: Dynamics and Future	3	조창익	English	This course is basically designed to disseminate the knowledge on how Korea has been growing historically since early 1960s until recently. The topics include overview of economic growth in Korea, by dividing the time periods such as 1950-1961, 1961-1970s, 1980s, 1990s, Asian financial crisis with social and economic restructuring afterward, and 21st century. On top of a series of government driven economic planning, the course will highlight the pattern changes in industrial structure, labor relations, and social impacts. And the course will discuss the future trends in the aspects of ICT, industrial revolution 4.0, etc. Also, this course will focus on the foreign students and Korean students interested in Korean economy and business so as to make them think and analyze the core issues on Korean economic growth, unique patterns of economy including the positive and negative impacts of conglomerate firms such as Samsung, LG, SK, etc. Also the course will investigate the dark sides of economic growth that the Korean society and economy has been facing such as income inequality, aging population, economic downturns, and so forth.	click here	Mon 7&8 Wed 7
691013	<input type="checkbox"/> Business <input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> Marketing <input type="checkbox"/> Media & Communication		Regional Korean Event Marketing & Cross-Cultural Analysis for Business	3	QUARTON GARETH LLOYD	English	Hallym University is situated in the beautiful region of Gangwondo. Gangwondo is famous for its local festivals with almost every city or town having at least one festival per year, attracting national and international tourists. During this course you will choose one named festival in Gangwondo and compare it to a similar themed festival in your home country (Korean students will find a similar named festival outside of Korea and compare and contrast). How are they similar? How do they differ? How is the event marketed and how does this compare to a similar event in your home country? You will gather festival data and devise a (nationality) specific marketing plan for citizens of your home country with the aim of raising international awareness of the named festival in your home country. You will create a business plan and marketing and advertising content and produce oral presentations in which you reflect and justify your decisions.	click here	TUE E THUR E PR Video here
691010	<input type="checkbox"/> Korean Studies <input type="checkbox"/> International Studies		Current Issues in Modern Korean Society	3	이지연	English	The Current Issues in Modern Korean Society introduces students to issues that influence our life in this global, multicultural society. Students will read about and research current economic, political, social, and cultural problems of Korea, and explore how ongoing conflicts affect groups as well as individuals.	click here	MON 5 & 6 WED 5

한림대학교		Department	Course Name	Credit	Instructor	Language	Course Description	Full Description	Class Hours
102353	<input type="checkbox"/> English Language and Literature		SHAKESPEARE AND RENAISSANCE LITERATURE	3	CANADAS IVAN	English	This introduction to the drama of Shakespeare's time traces the development of English drama during the late-Elizabethan and Jacobean periods ? from the late-1580s to the 1610s. We will explore famous examples of the drama, representing a revenge tragedy, a historical tragedy, and a romance (tragicomedy). We will briefly consider classical models and concepts, and look at the development of theatrical conventions in early modern England and the legacy of Medieval, popular or religious entertainment. By extensions, we will study these plays in terms of professional acting and stage practice, and the place of the audience.	click here	Mon 1&2 Wed 1
203320	<input type="checkbox"/> Social Science		SOCIAL WORK IN SCHOOL	3	고윤순	English	This is an elective course as one of social work fields for sophomore, junior, and senior students. This course explores various issues around grade school students in school system (elementary-high school) and School Social Work interventions for those issues. The course is especially designed to prepare students for competent social workers in the areas of assessment, counseling, program development and evaluation, and networking with community resources for needy students and their families. Special emphasis will be paid into the serious issues such as violence in school, children in poverty, ADHD, substance abuse and internet addiction, etc. Student participation is crucial for the effective learning and the course requires students to write short reports, and to do a small group presentation and discussion. As English is used for all learning activities, instructor will be sensitive to the English level of each student and their learning patterns, providing abundant consultations and encouraging feedbacks.	click here	Tue F Thurs F
208425	<input type="checkbox"/> Psychology		Reading in Psychology	3	이정원	English	This class has two goals. The first one is to introduce general knowledge of psychology, and the second one is to increase students' English skills, especially reading skill. In class, students will be asked to read articles and then summarize them.	click here	Tue F Thur F
503414	<input type="checkbox"/> Chemistry		CHEMISTRY OF NATURAL MATERIALS	3	NIMSE SATISH BALASAHEB	English	This course is focused on the organic chemistry of Natural products like 'Acetyl CoA', 'Fatty Acids', and 'Polyketides'. Students will gain a working knowledge of the structure, synthesis, and reactivity of these natural products.	click here	Tue C Thur C
102400	<input type="checkbox"/> Education <input type="checkbox"/> English Language & Literature		Introduction to English Composition (기본영작문)	3	안정현	English	Only students who use English as their second language may join this course This class is an introductory, practical course in writing, focusing on the sentence, the paragraph and how these building blocks can be used to produce short, coherent reports and essays. Students will use a reader, comprising most of the material needed, and they will be provided with additional material as required. Evaluation will depend on the completion of written tasks, as well as on attendance and participation. Participants will have the opportunity to acquire a sound grasp of grammatical correctness and argumentative vocabulary and style. By completing supervised writing tasks, students to acquire a sound grasp of grammatical correctness and argumentative vocabulary, essential to the ultimate goals of clarity and accuracy in academic writing. Students will learn how to present evidence and how to document sources; they will explore writing for different audiences, and will receive guidance and feedback on an ongoing basis.	click here	TUE B THUR B
506527	<input type="checkbox"/> Chemistry		Introduction to Organic Chemistry	3	NIMSE SATISH BALASAHEB	English	This course is designed for students of life sciences, biomedical sciences, and other departments where the knowledge of organic chemistry plays an important role. Organic compounds (i.e., carbon-containing molecules) are fundamental to sustaining life. All living creatures, including humans, animals, plant, bacteria require organic chemicals to survive. In this course, the student will learn intermediate-level organic chemistry, including various organic compounds, nomenclatures, chemical, physical properties. Students will be introduced to the fundamental reactions of organic compounds (alkene, alkynes, alcohol, aldehyde, ketones, carboxylic acids, esters, and amides).	click here	Tue A Thur A
209107	<input type="checkbox"/> Media		International Communication	3	PRIELER MICHAEL	English	The purpose of this course is to inform the basic concept of international communication. For this, this class basically deals with these topics; (1) the basic theoretical concept of international communication, (2) the current status of international communication, and (3) globalization over the nation-states.	click here	Mon 3&4 Wed 3
209905	<input type="checkbox"/> Media		Media and Culture	3	PRIELER MICHAEL	English	This course is an introduction to media and culture and wants to equip students with the basic knowledge that is necessary in order to proceed with their studies. The course covers different media such as books, newspapers, magazines, films, radio, television, video games and the internet, as well as topics that are connected with most of these media forms such as public relations, advertising, a short introduction to the effect theories of media, and discussions on media ethics and global media		Tue A Thur A